CITY TRUSTEES

Water Company Protests Against Proposed Rates—Appointment to Fill Vacancy on Board Deferred—New Appointments on Water Commission

All members present: Mr. White's place vacant. Demands on the treasury were read and referred. In a communication Parker & Sternberg requested permission to remove palm trees in front of their new building. Referred to street superintendent with power to act. A communication was received from P. E. Fitzpatrick in which he agreed to comply with conditions of ordinance granting him a pipe line franchise. Received and filed. A protest was read from the Verdugo Spring Water Co. against enforcement of ordinance requiring a reduction of rates, stating that the company never has paid its stockholders a fair return on money invested and requesting a hearing. Communication referred to committee of the whole. Monthly reports of city officials were read and filed. Demands approved were ordered paid.

Mr. Coker of supply committee reported unable yet to get balance of chair order. Mr. Moore reported progress in taking city census. Manager of electric light department recommended acceptance of bid of Underground Cable Co. for cable terminals; adopted. Manager also reported that he would begin work on ornamental lighting system in about ten days. Street superintendent reported that property owners on Verdugo road near First wished to have certain trees remain undisturbed by street improvement now going on. Matter referred to city engineer with power to act, with recommendation that trees remain if practicable. Chairman Watson stated at this point that there would be no appointment made at this meeting to fill vacancy existing on board. There was a large audience in the lobby but no one responded to the invitation to address the board. Trustee Watson stated further that it was the wish of the board to appoint to vacancy on the board a citizen of the territory recently annexed on the West Side. City Attorney Evans reported on the legal phase of the subject, to the effect that the general law provides that "no person shall be eligible for election to the board who has not resided within the city one year." The annexation act declares that as to the fact of annexation, the new territory shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges of the city, there being apparently some conflict between the two sections. In reply to question by the chairman, the attorney reported that the appointment of a member open to a question of doubt would not matter as long as such member agreed in his action with the other members of the board in his votes, but in case of his voting in a contrary manner, the effect might be serious. The matter was discussed at some length by members of the board and others. Attorney Evans was firm in the opinion that as far as he has been able to learn, the point is not clearly covered by the law and he had been unable to find any decision on the matter.

Chairman Watson stated in concluding the matter that the board wished to give the newly annexed territory a representative on the board, but there are very important matters to come in the near future and the board is determined to go slowly in the matter. The city attorney thought the matter might be referred to the superior court with the possibility of a decision being rendered during July. No further action was taken. The clerk reported having in his possession the assessment roll on the opening and widening of Brand boulevard, and notice ordered published giving protestants until July 8th to be heard.

The matter of opening a road through from north city limits south to Sixth street along Childs Tract line came up for discussion, the city engineer recommended condemnation proceedings if it should be decided to open the street at all. On motion the engineer was instructed to submit a plan for the opening of the street from Verdugo road westerly and southerly to Sixth street. Mr. Coker brought up the matter of getting the gas company to put pipes down on Verdugo road before the improvement of that thoroughfare. The engineer reported that he had been unable to get any reply from the gas company to the request made. The matter was referred to the city attorney.

Mr. Coker called attention to the bad condition of Broadway, suggesting work being done in the way of repairs. The city engineer expressed opinion that any work done on the street would necessarily be of a temporary nature, the street not having a foundation to stand up under the heavy traffic over it. Referred to street superintendent. The ordinance regulating water rates was laid over. Matter of improvement of that portion of Verdugo road jurisdiction, was referred to board of public works. The chairman appointed four members of the water commission as follows: John Robert White, Jr., Allen C. Ady, H. A. LaGrosse and J. C. Sherer.

The city attorney was instructed to prepare a traffic ordinance providing for licenses for heavy team work.

THE GLENDALE CENSUS.
The count of the people of Glendale had not been completed up to Wednesday night. The returns had been received from one of the four enumerators, Mr. Redman, who took the count in the southwest precinct (Louise and Broadway being the precinct lines). In that section the total is 1,442. This would indicate that the total will be about 5,000.

A JOLLY PICNIC.

Jolly indeed was the picnic enjoyed Thursday by the members of Miss Ruth Byram's class and Mr. Elmer Riggs' class of the Presbyterian Sunday school. The members gathered at the church at nine o'clock, from where they left for La Crescenta in a large hayrack drawn by four horses. After an eventful and happy ride they arrived at the canyon back of Crescenta with splendid appetites to enjoy the delicious picnic luncheon which comprised everything ever heard of for picnics. Late in the afternoon they started for Glendale, reaching Verdugo Park in time for supper, after which followed a moonlight ride. The thirty picnickers eventually arrived at home, tired but happy.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

The annual business meeting of the club was held May 28 at the Country Club. Mrs. P. S. McNutt, vice president, presiding. Reports from the various officers and committees showed a prosperous club year. Mrs. F. Grosvenor, secretary, reported having attended all meetings, sent Year Book to all members and a large number of communications received and answered. Mrs. Clarence Newcomb, treasurer, reported cash on hand Oct. 1, 1911, $35.97; received during year, $307.42; total, $343.39. All bills being paid, there was a balance in the treasury of $62.21. There is in the building and lands fund, $269.33, with subscriptions amounting to about $200 due June 1st.

Mrs. F. L. Church, chairman program committee, reported program arranged for fourteen meetings, some of the best known lecturers and speakers appearing on the program. Mrs. Ward, chairman of the hospitality committee, reported having a reception committee at every meeting, welcome the members and refreshments served; a number of timely and special refreshments on two occasions.

Mrs. L. W. Sinclair read the report from the committee on philanthropy, of which Mrs. C. E. Hutchison is chairman. This committee has been working in a quiet but effective way. They gave a Japanese tea, the proceeds amounting to $18.10; received from Tuesday afternoon club, $15.00; from friends, $16.75; besides fruit, groceries, clothing and bedding. They have sent to the Working Boys' Club, Los Angeles, $5.00 yearly membership; and clothing; to the Children's Hospital, $5.00; or yearly membership, food and clothing; Kings Daughters' Club Nursery, $5.00 yearly subscription, 64 boxes of candy, food and clothing. They have also given money, clothing and provisions to needy Glendale families.

Mrs. P. S. McNutt reported for the building and fund committee. They also have been busy during the year. Their object has been to secure a site for a club house, believing this site should be within walking distance of both car lines. A committee was appointed to canvass the territory lying between Second and Sixth street and Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard, for property suitable for a club site. Three lots were submitted to the club for consideration. Through the efforts of this committee an opportunity was given to the club members to subscribe to the club fund. Two entertainments have been given under their auspices, netting about $75.00.

Mrs. Carl Mertens reported for the literary section. This section met the first and third Tuesdays of the month at the home of Mrs. Mertens, but on several occasions spent delightful afternoons with other members. Pleasant hours were spent with Henrik Ibsen, Edward Rostrand, Mrs. Hodgson Burnett, Henry Van Dyke and Herman Luderan. Gabrielle D. Annunzio is now under discussion.

There was no report from the civics committee, as the chairman, Dr. Jessie Russell was absent from the city. After the reports a vote was taken on a club house site. The choice was the lot on west side of alley between Jackson and Kenwood streets on Fifth street. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. R. E. Chase; vice president, Mrs. C. E. Hutchison; secretary, Mrs. Frank Grosvenor; treasurer, Mrs. C. H. Bott; member executive committee, Mrs. W. E. Evans.

A pleasing program is being arranged for the next meeting which will be held June 11 at the Country Club.

The Glendale Laundry finds its patronage increasing so rapidly that an addition of 40 by 45 feet is to be made to the west end of the building. The proprietors find it difficult to obtain help, girls in particular.

HIGH SCHOOL

An Interesting Batch of Items

Mr. Petty gave a short talk to the students on Wednesday afternoon regarding the banquet for the boys of the "Students' League."

Mr. Moyses has been absent for a few days this week. He is visiting the neighboring high schools.

The cantata, "The Lady of Shalott," which was given by the Girls Glee Club, will be repeated by request Thursday, June 20. There will be several solos on the program and the mixed chorus will also give several selections. All are invited to be present.

In a baseball game Decoration Day, at Verdugo Park, the park team defeated the high school team by the score of 7 to 4.

The Junior class are busy getting ready for the banquet that they are planning to give the Seniors on the last Friday of school in the gymnasium.

In the oratorical contest for the championship of Southern California at Hollywood, Friday night, May 31, Harold Story, Glendale's representative, captured first place, winning for the school by unanimous decision the handsome silver cup offered as first prize. His subject was the same as at the meet at Santa Ana, "The New Patriotism." At Santa Ana the Long Beach contestant won out, but at Hollywood he had to be content with second place.

The play given by the girls of the twelfth year English class was a great success. The players showed remarkable ability in their parts. The play was supposed to be a reproduction of Pyramus and Thisbe, as played by some English peasants, and was taken from Shakespeare's Midsummer Night's Dream. Though the adventure was supposed to be very sad, the manner in which the peasants rendered it was extremely laughable.

On Friday afternoon, May 31, Col. Ginger brought a model of the incline railway which he has invented, and explained it in detail to the students. The boys who are interested in mechanical and electrical engineering were invited to come to the office and learn more about the device if they so desired.

Wednesday evening, May 31st, the second semi-annual Student League banquet was given at Hamburger's Cafe. Mr. Holmes of New Zealand, who is in this country in the interests of the New Zealand government, was the guest of honor and delivered the address. A large delegation of the boys turned out to represent Glendale High and also to get some good "cats" and have a good time generally, in which they were not disappointed.

Prof. J. H. Frances delivered an address at the high school auditorium on the evening of June 6 under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Federation. A musical program was given in connection with the address. The high school orchestra rendered a number of selections; there was a piano trio by Prof. C. E. Krinbill, Dorothy Lee and Zora Kimball; vocal selections by Mrs. William Herman West; "Glorious Irish Songs" was given by William Herman West. Lunch was served during the reception hour.

The cooking department is busy serving luncheon to the faculty. Four or five girls serve four teachers; at noon. The luncheons have been pronounced a great success and the girls are proud of their ability as cooks.

Mr. Head of Los Angeles who expects to establish a studio in Glendale and give elocution lessons, recited several of Riley's poems and two short stories in Chinese dialect, of which he is the author, for the high school students last Friday. The students enjoyed it very much and wish him every success in his new work in Glendale.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Unique among this week's social events was the celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Page of 1638 Oak street, held Wednesday, May 2. One hundred guests assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Dodge at 1435 West Broadway, where luncheon was served on the lawn under a large canopy. Pretty decorations were carried out California poppies. An immense wedding cake, bearing the dates, May 29, 1862, and May 29, 1912, graced the center of the table. A long, pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by those present renewing old friendships and recalling old times, by many who had not met for twenty-five years. Relatives were assembled from all parts of Southern California to honor Mr. and Mrs. Page. They were made the happy recipients of a number of handsome gifts and a large sum of money in gold.

DEATH OF MRS. W. S. MAY.

Friends in Glendale have received news of the death of Mrs. W. S. May at her home at Dacula, Okla. Mr. and Mrs. May and family left Glendale last September, returning to their former home in Oklahoma after a residence of some months here. She was born Ida Quick and married Mr. W. S. May in 1898 at Dugginsville, Mo. Seven children and her husband are left to mourn the loss of wife and mother.

PICNIC LUNCHEON.

Saturday last Miss Katherine Lewis of Kenwood street entertained with a charming out-of-doors luncheon in Verdugo Park. Covers were arranged for ten. Lunch was followed by a pleasant afternoon in the park. A number of out-of-town guests were present.

OUR AVIATION PARK

At Glendale's Door—Only Better Transportation Needed to Make It a Valuable Asset—Items Gathered from Gage and Martin

If Sixth street in Glendale should continue in a direct course across the river it would strike the Griffith Park reservation of 180 acres that constitutes the "Aviation Field" owned by the Griffith Company and under lease for a term of years to Mr. Van Grifflin, who sublets it to the Aero Club of Southern California. The aviation field is about a mile long, most of it being north of the club house (the old brick ranch house). The field is an ideal situation, the high hills of Griffith Park rising immediately in the rear, and the valley spreading out in front, the willow-fringed Los Angeles river in the foreground. The field is distant not more than a mile from Glendale in a straight line, but the circuitous route that has to be followed in getting there makes the distance three times as much. It lies about a mile and a half north from Ivanhoe, the nearest point on the Pacific Electric line, and it is reasonably expected that when the railroad people get ready to do so they will build a spur up the river to put the field in direct communication with the rest of the world. This is particularly feasible, as the grade is practically made, this being the route of the old "Ostrich Farm" motor road that extended from Los Angeles to Burbank some twenty-five years ago. That which would be of special value to Glendale, however, would be the building of the proposed extension of the Eagle Rock and Glendale Railway out Fourth street to the park, for which a franchise has recently been granted Mr. E. D. Goode. The business established at the aviation field at present is only a slight indication of what it undoubtedly will be in a short time, but even now, if communication was more direct, Glendale and Tropic would be receiving appreciable benefits in the way of business, and by affording homes to the mechanics and others now employed there, many of whom would be glad to settle among us if the transportation problem was solved. Among those employed at the field now and making their homes in Glendale we found Mr. Jay Gage, of 1505 West Fifth street. Mr. Gage occupies one of the hangars at Griffith Park, where he is engaged in the business of constructing aeroplanes after his own models and in teaching aviation. He has been in the business about three years, and some of his machines are used by such aviators as Parmelee and Turpin, for whom he has recently built planes warranted good for sixty-five miles an hour. Mr. Gage is a very successful teacher of the art, and has at present half a dozen pupils, one of whom, a Glendale man, Mr. Curtis of Ninth street, had taken his first lesson aloft the day before our reporter visited the field. For the purpose of teaching the art, Mr. Gage has a powerful biplane, weighing 1,000 pounds, with a forty-horsepower motor. It has two seats, one behind the other, one occupied by the teacher, the other by the pupil, so arranged that the former can readily relieve the pupil of the steering gear at a moment's notice. Mr. Gage believes that the art of navigating the air is making rapid progress and every day's experience is tending to rob it of its danger, the principal danger being in alighting so as to avoid breaking parts of the machine. Ordinarily a course in aviation consists of twenty-five lessons, but some students are fairly proficient with fifteen. Mr. Gage now uses a forty-horsepower engine, but is figuring on one with sixty horsepower, and so exceed his present speed limit.

At Griffith Park Aviation Field is located the hangar and assembly rooms of Glenn L. Martin, the Santa Ana boy whose recent achievements in the air have made him the most talked of aviator on the coast. As everybody knows, he recently broke two world's records, the longest flight over water, by flying from Newport Bay to Catalina and return, and an elevation record the height of 4,400 feet. It was Mr. Martin who on the 30th of March last circled around Los Angeles on schedule time, returning to Griffith Park just a half minute behind the time he had set for himself. His factory at Santa Ana turns out the parts of the machines built by the Glenn L. Martin Company; they are then shipped to Griffith Park and put together, some of the most skillful mechanics in the country being in Mr. Martin's employ, one of them having recently left the Wrights to come here. The establishment employs fourteen men, consisting of draughtsmen, mechanics and helpers. One of the machines now in the hangar is that recently in use by Miss Scott, and has just been sold to Grover E. Bell. It is a two-passenger machine, good for fifty miles an hour. Work is proceeding on a machine that is to be good for a mile a minute, being equipped with a seventy-five-horsepower motor. Speaking of the idea common among the general public about the apparent cheapness of an aeroplane, Mr. Martin said: "Why, the engines alone cost from $3,000 up." Then he called attention to the wood used in construction, everything selected and perfect, the heavier pieces not being the original piece, but composed of one-quarter or one-eighth inch strips carefully glued together and built up to the required dimensions. Mr. Martin's manager is Roy Knabenshue, who left the Wrights to fill this position in California.

Both Mr. Gage and Mr. Martin agree in an enthusiastic idea of the future of the aeroplane and state that the demand for skilled aviators is constantly increasing. Almost every fair that takes place wants an exhibition of aviation as a drawing card. The governments of the world are considering the art seriously as an adjunct to successful military operations, the United States being rather in the rear of the procession. In the war between Italy and Turkey, hundreds of Turks were killed by explosives dropped from aeroplanes, while only two aviators were injured.

W.C.T.U. NOTES.

We certainly did have a very profitable and pleasant afternoon Friday, May 31st, with Mrs. L. W. Sinclair. Her explanation of Indian curios gathered in Arizona by herself and family was certainly instructive, bead, wood, earthen, leather hide and basket work, also some wearing apparel. Mrs. Butterfield also had articles on display.

Question: "Why I wear the white ribbon," brought out many bright, earnest reasons by the goodly number present.

We received fair profits for our work at Mr. J. N. McGillis' store, the 28th, and heartily thank him for his kindness and forbearance with the committee in charge.

Wednesday, June 12th, we are invited as Hollywood W.C.T.U. guests at a picnic to be held at one of its members on Gower street and Santa Monica avenue. We trust many will attend. Please inform me by Saturday. We take Colegrove car to Gower street, June 23, Anti-Cigarette Sunday. Mrs. P. A. C. Moore and Mrs. R. M. Nell will arrange for the observance of the day in the various Sunday schools and pulpits.

MIDNIGHT FIRE.

The fire department was called out a little after midnight Monday to Lomita and Central, but arrived too late to prevent the burning of an outhouse on the rear of a lot belonging to Mrs. Case. They were in time, however, to prevent the flames spreading to one or two garages on adjoining lots. One of these belonged to Mr. J. W. Lawton whose garage and auto had a narrow escape.

THE WOMAN'S PROGRESSIVE LEAGUE.

Will hold an informal reception and tea on the tenth floor of the Higgins building, Los Angeles, Saturday, June 8th, at 2:30 p. m.

A cordial invitation is extended to all women who read this.

Come and bring a friend. At this meeting it is expected to launch the Woman's Progressive League Bulletin which is to be a monthly magazine containing summaries of articles on Woman and Woman's Work, found in current magazines, together with name and date of paper printing same.

The "Bulletin" will also keep the women posted concerning the local league as to work suggested as well as work accomplished.

You may have it sent to your address on the payment of one dollar to the Woman's Progressive League, Higgins building.

THE SCENIC RAILWAY.

An important change has been made in this project, it being decided to build to the top of Mt. Verdugo from the eastern slopes, approaching through Verdugo Canyon instead of going up direct from Casa Verdugo. A large committee has been appointed by the Chamber of Commerce, and subscriptions are coming in in an encouraging manner. The NEWS will devote more space to the subject in its next issue.

BORN.

GLENDAL, CAL., JUNE 7, 1912

They have discovered an Ophiocodon, ten million years old. The thing was dead.

Parks, a Municipal Water System, a Free-Holders' Charter, a Scenic Railway, another Electric Railway and Folks—they are all coming!

The Redondo Reflex has published a large Booster edition which sets forth the many good points of that attractive and lively town in an alluring manner.

A Binghampton woman got a sentence of three months in jail for beating her husband. There is a moral here for the man who has courage to apply it.

From the Fruit World we learn that the shipment of oranges this season totals up to date about 21,000 carloads, with 3000 carloads of lemons. This is 7000 carloads less of oranges than up to the same date last year and 500 carloads less of lemons. The latter are bringing fairly satisfactory prices but oranges continue to bring unsatisfactory prices, evidently due to the large quantity of fruit shipped, which worked an injury to the grower all along the line.

Every now and then some property owner, appears at the city hall and complains that he has not had notice of some improvement for which his property is assessed, and makes a protest against what he considers an injustice. There is scarcely ever a street improved without some one's property along the line of it getting on the delinquent list. Every year there are a large number of delinquent tax sales in the city and county because owners do not take pains to advise themselves as to what is going on. As a rule these people do not take the local paper and the direct loss to them by failing to do so, amounts to many times the cost of the year's subscription. The local paper exists because of the legitimate demand for it and there is something radically wrong about the citizen who "has no use for it."

That Frank Showalter, president of the Improvement Association is a persistent booster for Glendale, none of his neighbors have ever denied. Generally he is also level headed and fair, but the best of us make slips from the straight path occasionally, and Mr.
Showalter certainly does so when he breaks into print and criticizes the NEWS for its reference to the late May Festival. From his own inner consciousness Mr. Showalter never could have evolved such ideas as he expresses in the communication, and we regret that he was swayed from his usual equanimity by some one who loves us not overmuch. We expressly credited Mr. Showalter with having made the affair a success, "in the face of discouraging circumstances," we commended the management of the barbecue and merely hinted at the possibility of some other details being susceptible of improvement. As to the crowd in attendance, the Los Angeles papers did have varying and ridiculous estimates of it and the NEWS made no pretense of guessing at it. The affair occurred on the day we went to press, but received fair notice in that issue and was accorded sufficient space the following week when the matter was no longer news.

LEST WE FORGET.

All that has been written in song, or told in story of woman's love for man is greatly enhanced by our tender thought towards Mrs. Isadore Straus, who so grandly stood by her husband's side as they sank together in the ill-fated Titanic.

When we revere her, let us recall also an instance of man's love for woman, when Philip P. Bliss, the much-loved evangelist, voluntarily gave up his opportunity to escape death in the awful train wreck at Ashtabula, Ohio.

Wreckage so pinned down Mrs. Bliss that for her there was no escape.
Kneeling beside her, holding close her hands, he waited with her the envelopment of the flames. For us these things should bring inspiration, not sorrow, nor pity—because for Love there is no sacrifice, it is really a gift, a service; and "perfect love casteth out fear."

It may be these things are brought to our attention now and then that we might not forget. Think of it—
Lest we forget!

MRS. G. E. WILLIAMS.

The Republican convention is only a matter of ten days distant. Notwithstanding the recent accessions to the Roosevelt ranks, the outcome of it is very uncertain. The claims of both sides may be received with some discount, but on the surface the majority of the delegates are for Taft.
It is noticeable that Roosevelt claims of a majority are based on the assumption that they will win in a large number of contested cases. This is an unsafe basis to figure on, for it is admitted that President Taft is favored by a majority of the national committee, the authority of which in the preliminary stages of the convention, is supreme. There will be many contested cases where the facts will appear to be in doubt and it is reasonable to suppose that in such instances the benefit of the doubt will be given to the president by his friends. The idea seriously suggested in some quarters, that newly elected national committeemen selected by a state primary law should be seated prior to the assembling of the convention, is ridiculous. To accede to such a demand would be allowing newly elected members to pass upon their own credentials. The old members of the committee hold their places until the convention is organized.

SURFACE LIVING.

We are living today too much on the surface. Like the shallow sheet of water, agitated by every breeze that passes over it, we are victims of unrest and discontent resultant from this superficial life.

In the earlier days of this century people delved deeper into affairs than do we of the present day. We accept the statements of others rather than the conclusions of research and investigation. We form our opinions from rumor, from unsupported assertions and from yellow journals rather than from study of the questions and actual evidence.

There is too much gossip, too much speculation, too much knocking and too much pulling down of reputations nowadays for the public or private good. The ambitious politician no longer confines his utterances to vital issues.
He feeds the spirit of unrest and discontent which he knows is world-wide by telling the people how unhappy is their condition, how badly they are managed, and baits his hook with the word "reform" and proceeds to fish for votes. His chief argument is the unworthiness of his opponent. By pulling him down he hopes to pull himself up. Oftentimes the same tactics are employed by business rivals.
Social rivals too frequently attempt to lift themselves to social leadership by slandering those who share the public favor.

It is a sad state of affairs and the sooner we begin a reform in this respect the better for the community, the state and the nation.

Let us get off the surface, let us delve deeper into life. Let us cultivate brotherly love, adopt fair methods and begin forming opinions of our own by careful study and research.

Not every man who is called a thief is one. Not every man who styles himself a reformer is one, and mark this: the person who is ready to flout the mistakes of his brother man and publish abroad the faults of another, has a serious defect in his own character and is not to be trusted.—Gateway Gazette.

THE CARE OF TREES; TOO MUCH BUTCHERY.

The question whether vegetable organisms are endowed with a sensibility that makes them capable of experiencing the sensations of enjoyment and suffering, may well be left to the poets and metaphysicians, but if the people into whose care they fall should be converted to this belief, their treatment of the mute martyrs of their saw and pruning knife, would certainly be more considerate than it is in many cases. The writer has in mind several specimens of the Auricaria in particular, that rear their bared stems in front yards in this immediate neighborhood, and are thus forced to thrust their mutilated remains upon the attention of passers-by, a bare stock denuded of limbs to within a few feet of the top where half a dozen starved branches still show some sign of life.

This naturally splendid tree (commonly known as Norfolk Island Pine) is one of the finest of the beautiful ornamental trees that we have imported from other lands and with proper care takes gracefully to conditions here, growing rapidly if given half a chance and increasing in beauty and stateliness with the passing years. There is a marked scarcity of fine shade trees in the neighborhood of Los Angeles where conditions are favorable for the rapid growth of so many varieties. As a general rule they are found only on the old places that have not frequently changed owners, or adorning the grounds surrounding the newer homes of the wealthy.

And this scarcity is not due to any lack of good intentions, but solely to ignorance, particularly among the people who are having their first experience in building up homes. Only a small proportion of the ornamental trees planted with fond expectations, ever fulfill them, and the fault is not with the unfortunate trees. The new home builder is apt to delight in the use of saw and pruning knife and the temptation to lop off the branches of trees growing near the ground is with many of them irresistible.

A well-formed Auricaria should not be trimmed, and this applies to the finest of our shade trees, the redwood, sequoia, pine and cedar. It is sufficient to take off the sprouts which in the redwood particularly come up from beneath the ground. The live oak is another fine tree that is often ruined in the same way. In Highland Park oak trees were set out along some of the streets several years ago, but the most of them were spindling specimens when set out, others have been spoiled by trimming and altogether they have not turned out as they should, although it is a tree that is very appreciative of favorable conditions, one of which is that it be trimmed but little if any. The rule against trimming off limbs near the ground applies also to fruit trees with some modifications; the limbs in general should not be taken off more than two or three feet above the ground, the shade of the limbs being a necessary protection to the trunk.

The Myosotis Whist Club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Blake of 1564 Fifth street for the farewell meeting of the season. The gathering proved to be one of the pleasantest ever experienced by the organization. The house was prettily adorned with many cut flowers, and the evening's pleasures were completed with the serving of dainty refreshments.

MEXICO

In the Land of Tomorrow—F. Gilman Taylor Tells of Experiences and Observations

Last November, Mr. F. Gilman Taylor, formerly a well-known business man of Glendale, went to Culiacan on the west coast of Mexico, as agent for a Los Angeles company interested in the sale of lands in that section. For a short time after his arrival there business was excellent but this condition only lasted about a month, and last week Mr. Taylor came home, being one of the passengers brought up on the U. S. S. Buford.

Mr. Taylor tells an interesting story about conditions in Mexico and although forced to leave under discouraging circumstances, is enthusiastic about the natural resources of the country and hopes to return when conditions change for the better.

Culiacan is the capital of the state of Sinaloa and had a few months ago a population of 16,000, about three or four hundred of whom were Americans, English and Germans, the former predominating. It is connected by rail with Nogales to the east and until about two months ago the S. P. Railway company ran trains with more or less regularity, but has entirely ceased operations during the past two months, all contracts being cancelled.
On the south the road is completed to Tepec, a distance of 500 miles and from that point is being constructed over the mountains to Guadalajara, 185 miles further.

Railroading in Mexico is evidently no holiday business. If the experience of the S. P. is a fair sample. The rebels served notice upon the company that if it carried federal troops, the bridges would be burned; then the federal government issued its mandate that troops must be carried. As a result, at one time between San Blas and Culiacan, 185 miles, there were thirty bridges out of commission.

How Revolutions Are Born.

Mr. Taylor gives an interesting history of the making of a revolution with some side lights on the Mexican character. In the revolt against Diaz, Madero was compelled to bid high for popular support, promising every revolutionary leader rewards in honor, lands and money. At the beginning of that trouble, Terrazas was governor of Chihuahua, and was one of the biggest land owners in the world, claiming some millions of acres. The common people wanted land, mules and money, Madero promised all of these and the peons flocked to his cause, Culiacan was captured for Madero by Banderas who proclaimed himself provisional governor. Then Madero full of good intentions, left the matter to the people to settle by their votes. The only newspaper in the state, published at Mazatlan boosted another candidate and Banderas was defeated. Elections had been a farce under the Diaz regime, but they were no better under Madero, for the supporters of Banderas were unable to get tickets on the day of election. The newly elected governor was an old and unpopular man named Renteria. The younger Mexicans supporting Banderas refused to accept the result of the election.
Then there came an invitation from Madero to Banderas to come to the city of Mexico to fix the matter up. He accepted and as soon as he reached Manzanillo en route, he was arrested and now occupies a prison cell.
Madero had asked him to go and receive his reward, he found it to be a dungeon. With Banderas when he captured Culiacan were two Americans and Antonio Franco. The newly elected governor tried to imprison these men; they escaped to the hills.
Government troops went after them;
a fight resulted and the revolution was on.

How a City Was Captured.

Mr. Taylor gives a graphic description of the capture of Culiacan as he witnessed the affair from the upper story of one of the few two-story buildings in town. He woke up one morning to find that during the night, the governor and every other official of whatever kind had deserted the city, the rebels being near at hand.
The remaining citizens formed such a defensive force as they could. The attacking party appeared towards noon on the outskirts of the town and negotiations for its surrender were entered into with much palaver, the citizens being anxious to have the formalities over with and the others wanting to get as much loot as possible. There was not much bitterness between the forces as the natives within and without the city were all mixed up in a common relationship.
The outsiders were commanded by five leaders and four of them were willing to enter the place peacefully, but the fifth wanted a fight. So a little after noon the latter at the head of his followers rushed the town. They came in a wild dash along the main streets, every man brandishing his gun and shooting promiscuously at anything or nothing, as his fancy dictated. Men, women and children sought cover, scattering in all directions like a flock of sheep, when a hawk swoops down upon them. There must have been a thousand of the invaders, a picturesque array of brigades, every one wearing ribbons and rosettes of flaming red and in some cases not much else to speak of. They had all sorts of guns and other plunder, for they had been raiding the country for months.

In a corner of the city was a company of federal soldiers who had been in some manner overlooked and by and by the invading army attacked them. The soldiers made a good defence and quite a number of the rebels were killed, a shack in which there was a company of them being struck by a nitro-glycerine bomb and over twenty of them killed. The federalists got away with slight loss. Mr. Taylor has some interesting pictures of some of these scenes, among others a gruesome photograph of a group of dead rebels killed in this fight. He states it is an interesting fact that the revolutionists are never too busy at anything, fighting included, to prevent their stopping to pose for a picture.

After the fight the victorious army proceeded to get individually drunk on tequila, the third distillation of the century plant, a most vile drink warranted to produce insanity in short order. A drug store was raided and the dusky soldiers were soon reeking with perfume and white with toilet powder. Every one of the five leaders in this affair was killed shortly afterwards. Out of twenty of the rebel leaders in that section only three or four remain alive, many of them being murdered by their companions and rivals. Mr. Taylor being an American was furnished with a body guard for his protection and the next day was escorted to a rancho seventeen miles distant where he remained two weeks.
On May 7th he was notified by the Consul at Mazatlan to prepare to leave the country. He went to Mazatlan where he went on board of the Buford which passed down the coast 800 miles to Salina Cruz, and returned picking up in all 374 refugees, about 150 being women.

Mr. Taylor expresses the belief that he was the only American man among the refugees on the steamer who had not been robbed or shot at. He thinks that of nearly 40,000 Americans in Mexico two years ago, not more than 1000 remain. He speaks in the highest terms of the liberality of treatment by the representatives of our government on the Buford; passengers were even furnished underwear. The boat reached San Pedro May 30th.
One of Mr. Taylor's fellow passengers furnished him a translation of a letter received a short time before leaving.
The request was complied with. Here is the letter:

"May 12, 1912.

Senior
My Esteemed Friend: I have to say to you that if you value your life or that of your wife, you will do me the favor to send me with the bearer $200 which I need for my force of men. If you do not send it you will be assaulted with arms at an hour's notice and we will take possession of whatever money and jewelry you may have. I shall be on the watch and come with my soldiers to kill you without further notice. I remain, yours truly,
"1st Capt. Pemincio Martinez,
"2nd Capt. Manuel Paron Martinez."

The Glendale News

GLENDAL, CAL., JUNE 7, 1912

The Buccaneers.
Originally buccaneers were peaceful English, French and Dutch settlers in the Spanish West Indies, and they received their name on account of their custom of drying their meat, in the Indian fashion, on a buccan, or hurdle. The Spaniards resented strongly the intrusion of these foreigners and made many attempts to oust them, but the buccaneers were a hardy set of men and crack shots with the musket, so they successfully resisted all the Spaniards' attacks and obstinately remained in the islands. What it was that caused the buccaneers to abandon their comparatively peaceful mode of living and take to piracy it is hard to say. Possibly the constant harrying to which they were subjected by the Spaniards prompted them to retaliate; but, whatever the reason, their depredations soon rendered the passage of the Caribbean sea an undertaking of extreme danger to merchants, and the word buccaneer has come down as a synonym for robbery, murder and all the vices.

Goethe's Birthday.
In August, 1818, Goethe went to Carlsbad for the cure and placed himself under the care of Dr. Rehbain. One morning when he rose he requested Charles, his domestic, to place a bottle of red wine and a glass in each of the two windows in the room. Then the poet walked round and round the apartment, stopping at each window to drink a glass of wine. When he had nearly emptied the bottles the doctor arrived. "Ah," said Goethe, "you are come. Do you know it is my birthday?" "No," said the doctor, "it is not your birthday. It falls tomorrow."

Only the production of the almanac could convince Goethe that he was a day out in his reckoning. When he discovered his mistake he gave vent to a strong expression and, after a long pause, turning to the doctor, said, "Then I have got drunk for nothing."

Beware of Cousins.
Cousins are not as simple as they seem. The very fact of being a cousin or having a cousin is complicated. The laissez faire of cousinship is both eluding and deluding. Cousins will be cousins even if you did not choose them. They can borrow money from you, visit you without being asked, tell people they belong to your family, contest your will, even fall in love with you, and a cousin once removed is twice as apt to. Never completely trust a cousin; never depend on his not doing any of these things; never take him for granted. The "cousinly kiss" may or may not mean what it means, and cousins always do kiss. It's part of being cousins.

Not that cousins need necessarily prove perfidious. Once in a blue moon they invite you to Europe or leave you money, but that almost takes an aunt or uncle—Atlantic.

Wear Slippers in the House.
In England it is the custom not only for grown persons, but also for children, to wear slippers in the house. English children as well as grownups wear shoes as we in America wear rubbers, only out of doors. This is not only a more comfortable custom with regard to footwear than ours, but it is also more healthful. The streets and sidewalks and even the yards are dusty. This dust, full of germs as it is, should not be tracked all over the house. We would do well in the interests of preventive medicine to provide slippers for our children and to insist upon the wearing of them in the house. It is less trouble to change from shoes to slippers, even three or four times a day, than it is to cure an illness the germ of which may have been brought into the nursery on the soles of the children's shoes.—Home Progress.

The Herb of Ferocity.
If you have any reason to suspect that you are too mild mannered, too gentle for this strenuous age, eat catmint. Miss F. A. Bardwell in her book "The Herb Garden" says catmint, one of the ten varieties of mint, is known as the herb of ferocity because of the ferocious disposition it imparts. "The herb when chewed," says Miss Bardwell, "is said to make the most gentle person fierce and quarrelsome. A legend is extant of a certain executioner who could never muster up his courage to the point of hanging till he had partaken of it."

Crushed Again.
"If I have a fault," said Mr. Henpeck, "it is that."
"If you have a fault?" Mrs. Henpeck broke in. "Ha, ha! Excuse me for laughing. If I have a fault it is that I sometimes permit my sense of humor to get the better of me."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Sticker.
Howell—Howell is a man of tenacity. Powell—Yes. If he were a dog and got a grip on your trousers you would be perfectly safe in ordering a new pair.—New York Press.

Plates and Plates.
Cook—They say that the plates on a battleship are nearly a foot thick. Kitchen Maid—Mercy! Fancy having to wash them three times a day!—Boston Transcript.

For Inspiration.
"Now, I want something in your happiest vein," said the editor.
"Better pay me in advance, then," declared the poet.—Washington Herald.

"If you keep on annoying the missus," said the butler, "she's liable to discharge you."
"She can't," replied the cook. "We had a beautiful quarrel this morning, and we're not on speaking terms."—Washington Star.

Good Luck.
Elsie—Mamma's so disappointed. Her cake didn't turn out as well as she expected. Tommy—Oh, good luck! Then we can have as much of it as we want.

The Toney Life.
Hokus—Dashaway gets all his mail at the club, doesn't he? Pokus—Yes, his wife even sends him her "at home" cards there.—Town Topics.

Good Reason.
Daniel Kennedy, the New York auctioneer, was talking about a collection of French snuffboxes that had sold too low.

"You ask why the owner sold them so low?" said Mr. Kennedy. "Well, he sold them low because he had to. Poverty compelled him. It is like the story of the little boys with the green ribbons in their coats. The schoolteacher interrogated these little boys to see what their knowledge of Irish history amounted to.

"Patrick," she began, "why are you wearing a green ribbon today?"

"Because it's the anniversary of the great and good St. Patrick, ma'am."

"Very well. And you, Michael, why are you wearing a green ribbon?"

"Because St. Patrick is Ireland's patron saint, ma'am, and green is Ireland's color."

"Good! And now, Solomon Eckhardt, tell us why you in your turn are wearing a green ribbon?"

"Because, ma'am, Pat and Mike and Denny said they'd bust me snoot if I didn't."—Washington Star.

Smile.
Smile when luck is breaking wrong.
Chant a snatch or two of song.
Cheerfulness will keep you strong.
Where discontent will fall.
Yours is not the hardest lot.
Make the most of what you've got.
Smile a bit, for kicking's not
A thing that will avail.

Smile though dark and long the day,
Knowing it's the only way
You can win out in the fray
And conquer adverse luck.
If you wear a smile of cheer,
Push ahead and persevere.
Hiding rough shod over fear
And showing grit and pluck.

Let the other fellow frown
Who admits that he is down.
You may never gain renown.
But smile and life's worth while.
Laughter makes the heart beat young.
The pessimist will die unsung.
But you can be a man among Men if you only smile.
—C. P. McDonald.

Roasting a Prince.
The old Thatched House club was a favorite resort of Sheridan, the great playwright. One frosty day when he was sitting there writing a letter the Prince of Wales came in and ordered a rum punch and a bumper of brandy and water straight away. Having emptied the glass in a twinkling, he called for a second and a third and said, puffing out his cheeks, "Now I am warm and comfortable; bring me my steak."

The order was instantly obeyed, but before his highness had eaten the first mouthful Sheridan presented him with the following impromptu:

The prince came in and said 'twas cold,
Then put to his head the rummer
Till swallow after swallow came,
When he pronounced it summer.
—From "London Clubs, Their Histories and Treasures," by Ralph Nevill Stokes.

To Make Him Eligible.
Mike Garrity, once state senator for a Chicago district, had a constituent whom he wanted to place and for whom he had no position. He decided to try James A. Sexton, postmaster, and took his charge along in tow. The representation was made that the applicant was not suitable for clerical work, but could safely attend to any old kind of an odd job. Mr. Sexton demurred. "I hold those places for crippled veterans," he said. "Come along, Danny," observed Garrity, "we'll go to the butcher shop and I'll chop a wing off you."

A Disappointment.
Two Englishmen visited China last year, and after finding quarters in Ning Po hired sedan chairs to make a call on an official to whom they had letters. It was very hot, and as there was no ventilation inside the sedans the travelers after a while asked the bearers to raise the roofs. This, to their surprise, the bearers flatly refused to do, and the Englishmen, highly indignant, were forced to take off the roofs themselves.

They soon found their chairs followed by a hoisting crowd of natives that swelled into hundreds as the journey continued. The Englishmen felt rather nervous, especially in view of the unsettled state of certain districts in China, but they arrived safely at their destination and got out. The crowds following them looked disappointed. Rather worried and puzzled they made inquiries of their host.

"To ride in a roofless sedan," was the explanation given them, "is the distinctive mark of a criminal going to execution, and as the usual place of execution is near the south gate the people thought you two 'foreign devils' were going to have your heads taken off and followed joyously to see the show."

His Masterpiece.
The young novelist had had a tough time of it, as had his dear wife. She held his talents in poor esteem and often urged him to try something else, for she was sometimes hungry and all the time ill clad. But one day his luck changed. He began to make money. And there came a day when he was able to write his check for $100 and pass it to his wife.

Her eyes filled with tears as she read it.

"Willbrand, darling," she said as she hastened around the table and put her arm about his neck. "I'll take back all the mean things I ever said about your work. This is the best thing you ever wrote."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Hearing and Doing. Luke vi:39-40.
Golden Text—Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves. Jas. 1:22.

(1.) Verses 39-40—Why is it possible or not for an unconverted man to be the means of the conversion of a sinner?

(2.) What reason is there to hope that a cold and formal pastor with fine ability may have a gracious revival in his church?

(3.) What are the chances that a religious teacher will develop in his disciples a religious experience superior to his own?

(4.) Verses 41-42—What is the character of the man who is severe on the bad deeds of another while himself habitually doing things that are worse?

(5.) If a father who uses tobacco blames or chastises his seventeen-year-old boy for smoking, would you or not say he was a hypocrite, and why?

(6.) If parents do not live up to what they teach their children, which will the children follow, the example or the precepts?

(7.) If parents insist upon their children, and young folks attending the Bible school, would you say, and why, that under ordinary circumstances the parents ought to attend also?

(8.) Verses 43-45—How much value ought we to give the fact that a man is a member of a church, when we know nothing else of him, in estimating his reliability?

(9.) What is the fruit of a man's life that will justify us in implicitly trusting him? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(10.) If a man professes to be a Christian and is stingy, a hard man to make a bargain with, who runs down what he wants to buy and praises unduly what he has to sell, what estimate should we put upon his profession of Christianity?

(11.) How should we estimate a woman engaged in good work, professing to be a Christian and yet taking pleasure in talking behind their backs about the shortcomings of others?

(12.) Verse 46—If a man is ever so orthodox, but is not living a straight life, what avails his orthodoxy?

(13.) Of what avail is prayer if a man is not loving and kind to everybody?

(14.) Verses 47-49—What is the foundation to build on which will stand the stress and strain of life, of death and of eternity?

(15.) What is the certain fate of those who profess to be Christians, but are not?

Lincoln at the Ball.
Lincoln married Miss Mary Todd of Kentucky. He met her, the story goes, when he was first elected to the legislature of Illinois at the governor's ball in Springfield, the state capital.

Said he to the lady, "Miss Todd, I would like to dance with you the worst way."

She was agreeable, and they joined the throng.

"Well, Mary," said a friend when he had escorted her back to her place, "how was the dance?"

"Why, just as he said," Miss Todd replied; "the very worst way."

Missing in the Theater.

Formerly there was no missing in the theater. The benevolent audience was content to yawn and fall asleep. The invention of hissing is no older than 1680 and took place at the first representation of "Aspar," a tragedy of Fontenelle, so we are told by the poet Rost in his "Brevet de la Calotte." A farce was produced in Bannister's time under the title of "Fire and Water." "I predict its fate," said Bannister. "What fate?" whispered the anxious auditor at his side. "What fate?" said Bannister. "Why, what can fire and water produce but a hiss?"

Correspondence

Editor NEWS:

In presenting these articles to your readers on child labor we wish to say that they are gathered from the most competent and reliable sources. This is an appalling evil that has been greatly augmented by the concentration of wealth and the machine age of production. To be indifferent to this evil one must be bereft of all sympathy for their fellowman and deaf to the cry of the innocents. To find out the cause and apply the remedy should engage the minds of all. Senator Beveridge has had an experience that is quite common to Socialists. He had heard of the appalling condition of the child wage slave in the United States and concluded to make a personal investigation. He was horrified with conditions as he found them. They were infinitely worse than he had expected. He then sought to bring them to the attention of the public. He was at once charged with making lurid statements and indulging in exaggeration. Mr. Beveridge in his recent New York speech gave this bit of personal experience which illustrates the point: "When in doing my duty as a senator of the United States I first began to study the industrial conditions of American women and children I could not believe the accounts of child labor. I thought that they were the exaggerated statements of over-excited reformers. I found them to be the truth. Scores and hundreds of specific instances were investigated. I laid the record before the senate and the country. Every statement of fact was under oath by men and women of the highest character and admitted truthfulness. Not one was denied, yet the senate as then constituted and public officials still in exalted places, either laughed or refused to listen." The above we have from a reputable United States senator: a picture of the heartlessness that greed inspires. Here they had truthful portrayals of scenes and incidents that would melt hearts of stone and they only laughed. Yes, they were forced to ward off with the shield of indifference or affected mirth the awful fact that they were wringing wealth from the frail hands of starved and tortured child slaves whom Mr. Beveridge was describing. This great wrong has not its equal in all savagery. This cannot be righted by an appeal to the millionaire senators. The power is in the working man's ballot, who comprise 80 per cent of the voting population.

Different Points of View.

"Good morning, Jones."

"Good morning, Brown. Any news today?"

"Well, yes. You know my brother who works at the bank? Well, he went to business the other day and found $1,000 on the counter. And what do you think he did? Stole the money and tripped off to Canada. And when the news reached my father it broke the old man's heart!"

"That's funny. You know, my brother works at a bank, too, and when he went to business the other morning he found $1,000. And what do you think he did?"

"What—stole it?"

"No; took it straight to the manager's office. And when the news reached my father, do you know it broke the old man's heart!"—London Tit-Bits.

Danger Ahead!

A battleship was cautiously feeling her way through a fog. Suddenly the navigator on the bridge heard church bells startlingly near. As he believed the land to be some miles away he turned to the engine telegraph and ordered the leadman to sound. The sounding showed plenty of water. Again the church bells pealed clear and near. The navigator paled a little, and his jaw set. In face of danger he must keep his wits about him. His glance met the face of the helmsman.

"What the dickens are you grinning at?" the navigator demanded sharply. Choking back his emotion, the man explained that one of his mates had got a new record of a peal of church bells and he was trying it on his gramophone.—London Answers.

Gilbert of Colchester.

Gilbert of Colchester, who flourished three centuries ago, has been called the founder of the science of electricity. Gilbert discovered the augmentation of the power of a loadstone by arming or capping it with soft iron cheeks, the screening effect of a sheet of iron, the method of magnetizing iron by hammering it while it lies north and south, the destruction of magnetism by heat and the existence around the magnet of a magnetic field. Generalizing from small to large, he advanced the entirely novel idea that the globe of the earth is itself a magnet.

Words Lamb Didn't Like.

Who would have thought that these respectable words were banned by Charles Lamb as detestable novelties? "Physical," he says, "vile word. Apathetic, vile word. Reaction, vile word. Mechanically—laugh!" Now, physical is in Shakespeare, not in the sense to which we are now used, but meaning medical. Coriolanus makes light of the blood letting of his wound and says it is physical to him.—London Standard.

APOSTROPHE TO SOLDIERS.

"Mustered Out."

(From Memorial Address of Samuel Parker, now of Glendale, Cal.)

We come once again to thy lowly resting places, brave and beloved ones, ye who, when danger, signals hung out on the horizon of the national sky, came forth to avert the threatening danger. Ye who in the pride of your manhood with hearts aglow with patriotic fervor, stepped forth from the farm and the counting house, from rural home, and city mansion, tearing yourselves away from mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts, and all the endearments of home. As associated with well-ordered lives, braving the danger of death in battle, or in a worse form, the slow-destroying fever of the hospital, defying the fatigue of the march and bivouac, of storm and exposure; content with soldiers' rations and privates' pay, inspired by a lofty heroism that enabled you to rise superior to any thought of ease, invite the shock of battle, that through your efforts might come enduring peace.

We hail you on this your day, with renewed feelings of veneration and affection—hail you in spirit presence, though resting long in that "sleep that knows no waking" this side the date when all shall "come forth," hail you as a living, vital force, in our memory of the services you rendered; hail you as a grand illustration of a grand fact that, though dead, ye are yet speaking to us in language well understood in the vocabulary of patriotism; hail you as closely related to immortality, for

"Ye are not dead whose glorious mind Lifts out hearts ye leave behind Is not to die."

Brave comrades, come forth at the summons of love, lay aside your tomb habiliments and open the door of your narrow house of earth; walk and talk, and move among us as ye did fifty years ago; let the bent forms of the dead and living resume old-time activities, and the hesitating step take on the elasticity of youth. Shake off those whitened locks indicative of age and let us be young again here and now. Let the old-time thrill come to your hearts as it did when rebellion's first roar belched forth on our flag at Sumpter. Hear again the call of the president for three-months' men, and later on the one for 300,000 more. Start up again the recruiting offices, and put your pulses in touch with the spirit-stirring fife and drum and amid wild huzzas and glad acclaim of loyal friends and neighbors, march proudly away as ye did that day never to be forgotten.

Ye went, but oh how many came not back! But by going ye achieved results that made your lives sublime and memory of you eternal. Come brave ones, appear! Stand in line until we that knew and loved you take you by the hand and call you by the old familiar names.

Thus invoked and ye come not? Perhaps it is selfish to ask your visible presence, when the spirit of patriotism pervades the living, but here in the sunlight of the land ye loved, in the presence of living ones that knew and loved you—and neath the banner made doubly glorious by your efforts to save it, floating in the free air of heaven, we say again All Hail!

Brothers, Comrades, farewell!

The storm of your last battle has long ago ceased and white-winged peace rests on all the land. Peace the product of your heroic efforts that cost, oh so many precious lives to secure. Farewell, but here, this day, old and young, we pledge eternal fidelity to your memory and our lives if need be, to protect and maintain the precious legacy that cost so many lives. Freedom's proud emblem shall continue to float over patriotic men and women.

Receiving the rich treasure from you, hallowed by your service and stained by your blood. We will hold the boon intact and "dying pass it on" to bless the coming ages.

Long as you stary emblem waves, Spring's sweetest floral gifts we'll lay.

With loving hands upon thy graves, On sad Memorial Day.

And in our meeting here today, Cheers for the living shall be said, Shouts for the veterans grim and gray Our tears are for the dead.

Dickens' Tidiness.

Authors, as a rule, are not famed for tidiness, but Dickens was an exception. "There never existed, I think, in all the world a more thoroughly tidy or methodical creature than was my father," wrote his daughter Mamie. "He was tidy in every way—in his mind, in his work, in keeping his writing table drawers, in his large correspondence—in fact, in his whole life." But he could be a fidget also, for example, in regard to the furniture in a simple in a hotel. He might be staying only a single night, but if it did not please him he would rearrange it all, always turning the bed north and south to meet his views of the electrical currents of the earth.

No road is too long to the man who advances deliberately and without undue haste.—Bruyere.

THE TEN-ACRE FARM.

Here is some good advice from the Walker-Middleworth Company, 1108 Broadway, Glendale, Cal. The happiest man these days is the man with a little ten-acre irrigated farm.

Five acres is enough to support a family, but ten makes a man independent. We are offering land in Merced county that is well worth twice the price we are asking, the terms are within the reach of every person. Remember that the owner of a ten-acre irrigated farm doesn't have to knuckle to the boss nor strain his conscience in the intense commercialism of the day. We are able to offer the public acreage at a price of sixty-five dollars per acre in ten-acre tracts, within 34 miles of the city of Merced. Plenty of water. Terms as follows: One-third cash down, balance payable in one, two and three years; interest at six per cent per annum on deferred payments.

If interested, call at our office and secure descriptive matter, and talk the matter over with us. This offer holds for ninety days only. WALKER-MIDDLEWORTH CO., 1108 Broadway, Glendale, Cal.

A COMMON ERROR OF DRESS-MAKERS.

And one that does a great injustice to the dress goods and material, is carelessness in using patterns. Before you decide on the making of your new dress, investigate my one-piece Ladies' Tailor System and large Quarterly Instruction Book closely, and let me show you the difference between cheap store patterns and those drafted according to measures taken correctly, and then you'll know whether or not there's any truth in the statement, Dressmaker's Tailor System of today at Burbank (lessons by mail, if preferred). Call or phone 1274, or write at once. Perfect-fitting patterns cut to order, linings fitted, etc. High grade dresses and ladies' tailored suits. Madam Phillips, P. O. Box 62, Second and Angeleno Sts., Burbank, Cal.

The youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Whomes (receder) of Ninth street, a young man of 25, died a few days ago. He had been in poor health for some months and had started about a week previous to his death on a camping trip into the mountains, but began to get rapidly worse and came home as soon as possible by train. He had for a considerable time been an employee of the Central National Bank in Los Angeles, where he had many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Whomes lost another son about a year ago.

Under the auspices of the West Glendale Parent-Teacher Association Rev. Blight of the Fellowship Church and a member of the Los Angeles board of education will be at the high school on the evening of Tuesday, June 11th, and talk to fathers, but every one will be welcome and a full attendance of those interested in our schools is desired.

Have You Seen Our Beautiful San Jacinto Valley?

Better see it before you locate, or you will be sorry

Now is the time to sell your high-priced ranches, and secure better ones for one-third the money in the fertile SAN JACINTO VALLEY. This rare opportunity is open now. It will not be a few months hence. These lands cannot be duplicated for anything like the price in the whole state. They are strictly high class in every particular. Some have fine brick houses, land all under a high state of cultivation, and right at the edge of town. If you want to double your money in less time than it takes to tell it, now is the time to do it. The very best of terms are available at this particular time. Large holdings have been secured from Eastern owners who are unaware of the recent development, especially the great new water discovery.

A Committee with autos has been appointed to show everybody around free, and we extend a hearty invitation to all of our good neighbors to see this beautiful little valley of ours in all its glory. Come over on the Santa Fe in the morning, back in the evening. San Jacinto Board of Trade, San Jacinto, Cal.

More water is the cry of the entire population of West Glendale — or larger water mains would be putting it more properly. In order to water the lawns, etc., to any advantage we are obliged to do so at night, or steal up before it is day light, and then there is some one else who has done the same and is there ahead of us.

After spending several months on the southwestern coast of Mexico in the interest of a land company, Mr. F. G. Taylor has returned to his home in Glendale. Mr. Taylor has many interesting stories to relate concerning the troublesome times in Mexico and it was on account of the serious state of affairs that he was obliged to leave on the transport along with so many others.

We wish to correct a slight mistake in last week's NEWS in reference to Dr. Morrison's birthday. Mrs. Lyon was given the credit for a vocal solo, when it should have been Mrs. Lyon and brother. Miss Clara Midcalf was the person who sang so sweetly "Silver Threads Among the Gold," instead of Miss Clara Morrison, as was printed.

Mrs. Homer DeWitt Rose of the Rose School of Music of Los Angeles will give a recital this (Friday) evening at the Y.M.C.A. auditorium. A number of her Glendale pupils will take part. Mr. J. Gage of 1505 West Fifth street, who made the aeroplane that fell with and killed Parmalee at North Hollywood, and justly, was highly incensed and angry at some of the accounts of the accident, written by ignorant and irresponsible writers. The Turkey Trot is the latest sensation at Nesom's Fountain. They all say nothing like it ever happened.

LOS ANGELES THEATRES

BELASCO—HIS FATHER'S HOUSE.

Witter Bynner's new play, "His Father's House," with Lewis S. Stone, Muriel Starr and other members of the Belasco company in the cast, will have its first production on any stage Monday night at the Belasco. The play is based on "The Road to Damascus," by H. A. Mitchell-Keays.

Mr. Bynner is a well known dramatist whose writings have brought to him no little literary favor. In his first stage effort he has seized upon the problem as to whether a young man married to a girl at eighteen finds only happiness in her life and perfection in her husband should be willing to disturb her ideal of him by deciding to her a phase—an almost forgotten one—of his earlier life. Of course, husband-like, he prefers that what has been said remain as a closed incident—and then at the most inopportune moment the disclosure comes to the young wife very much in the nature of a thunderbolt. Just how she conceals this unhappy knowledge from her husband for years and how she gives to an adopted son much the same degree of affection she has for her own son, form the basis of a play that is at once quite out of the ordinary channel, interest-compelling to an uncommon degree and intensely dramatic at all times.

Lewis S. Stone will have the part of the young husband while Muriel Starr will be seen as his wife. Harry Mestayer will have fine dramatic opportunities for some very effective work in the part of the adopted son, while Robert Ober as the son of the house will have one of the best roles that has come to him during his stay at the Belasco.

BURBANK—"PEG O' MY HEART." SECOND WEEK.

The real hit of the Burbank's spring season is Hartley Manners' new comedy, "Peg o' My Heart," which had its first performance on any stage at the Burbank last Sunday, with Laurette Taylor in the role she will play in the New York production of the comedy in the fall, and with Henry Stanford in the part of Jerry for which he has been secured for the Gotham presentation of Peg.

A second week of "Peg o' My Heart" commencing Sunday afternoon, is a simple necessity to take care of the crowds that have heard of the charm and rare fascination of Mr. Manners' new play which is a simple story well told in a simple, straightforward way, with adroitly drawn characters quite unlike the average people seen in plays; a play with smiles and laughter that are called forth by the quaintness of little Peg's clearly defined ideas of life, with here and there a touch of real pathos that causes a momentarily quickened heart throb or the suggestion of a tear that is instantly and happily brushed aside by the laughter that follows on the heels of one of Peg's flashes of Celtic wit. Persons who look for the melodramatic or the strenuous in their theatrical entertainment won't find much to their liking in "Peg o' My Heart," but to that vast army of playgoers who relish a refreshingly novel, wholesome, sprightly comedy played as few comedies ever are played, "Peg o' My Heart" will come as the most delightful offering of the year.

For San Jacinto and Hemet acreage see F. W. McIntyre, 424 West Broadway.

Mr. C. M. Pyke representing John S. McGarry's wonderful Mission Play now in the sixth week of its most phenomenal success at San Gabriel, is in Glendale arranging for a special excursion for some day the latter part of next week whereby those who desire can see the production which correctly and beautifully depicts the work of the Franciscan Fathers in the early mission days in California. Several persons who reside in Glendale have already had the pleasure of witnessing the play, and pronounce it the most wonderful stage production they have ever seen. Besides the beauty and wonder of the production there is a most valuable historical lesson to be learned in a most delightful and attractive way. There will be provided a special car with a reduced round trip rate without any transferring at Los Angeles. Mr. Pyke will attend to the local work and will have a diagram and seats for sale which will obviate all waiting at the box office of the theater. Reserved seats 50 and 75 cents and $1.00.

The loneliest newspaper in America has been found. It is the Red Bird Mountain Journal published at the town of Red Bird, Ark. This town is thirty-five miles from the nearest railroad station, five miles from the nearest postoffice, and two miles from the nearest cabin. The town consists of one log house, one log stable and one log newspaper office. It is situated in the middle of a two-acre clearing, surrounded by primeval forests. The loneliness of the Red Bird Journal is equal to the fitness of the name of a West Virginia paper. It is called the Breeze, and is published in Hurricane. One of its subscribers is a man named Blizzard.—Exchange.
